

IDENTIFICATION (ID) RULES AND CERTIFICATION OF DOCUMENTS

We are required under the rules of the Anti-Money Laundering and Counter-Terrorism Financing Act 2006 (the AML/CTF Act) to verify a member's identity for certain transactions.

This fact sheet explains how the ID rules work and what you have to do to get copies of your ID documents legally certified.

The AML/CTF Act requires members to provide a form of identification when they request a transfer, rollover or a benefit payment.

The ID requirements can be satisfied by Primary ID or, if Primary ID is not available, by Secondary ID.

Primary ID

A certified copy of:

- ↘ a photo ID, such as a State or Territory driver's Licence or the details page of a Commonwealth passport
- ↘ an international travel document as long as it contains a photograph and signature of the person in whose name it has been issued
- ↘ a card issued under State or Territory law for the purpose of proving a person's age, which contains a photograph of the person in whose name the document is issued
- ↘ a national identity card which contains a photograph and a signature of the person in whose name the document is issued.

Secondary ID

A certified copy of one document from List A plus a certified copy of one document from List B.

List A

- ↘ Birth certificate or birth extract issued by a State or Territory
- ↘ Citizenship certificate issued by the Commonwealth
- ↘ Pension card issued by Centrelink that entitles a person to financial benefits.

List B

- ↘ Letter from Centrelink regarding a Government assistance payment
- ↘ Notice issued by the Commonwealth, State or Territory within the past twelve months that contains a member's name and residential address, such as:
  - > Australian Taxation Office notice of assessment
  - > Rates notice from local council.

Process of certification

To have a document certified, you must produce the original document along with a photocopy of the document for a qualified witness to confirm the authenticity of the copy. All copied pages of original proof of ID documents must be certified.

The witness must ensure that the original and the photocopy are identical then write or stamp 'certified true copy' on the photocopy. This must be followed by the date and signature, printed name and qualification of the witness.

In cases where an extract of a document is photocopied to verify member ID, the witness should write or stamp 'certified true extract'.

A document may be certified by one of the qualified witnesses listed below.
